FOREWORD

It had been planned several years ago to bring out a catalogue of the Sanskrit Manuscripts in the Osmania University Library for the use of scholars in India and abroad. The plan has now been realised with the financial aid given by the Ministry of Scientific Research and Cultural Affairs, now a part of the Ministry of Education, and we have great pleasure in publishing the catalogue.

The scheme followed is the one approved by the Ministry, except that the symbol (E), denoting important manuscripts, has been placed immediately after the title of the manuscript, instead of after the serial number. The purpose of this alteration is to avoid the possibility of (E) being misinterpreted as a part of the Accession number, since our Accession numbers also contain letters. Only 22 manuscripts are marked with an (E), but there are some more manuscripts in the collection which are also rare. These have been marked as such in the last column.

The catalogue contains description of 2568 manuscripts. The manuscripts have been arranged into broad divisions according to their subjects, each division having several sub-divisions. Each of the divisions and sub-divisions has been given a symbol. Some manuscripts, which, for one reason or the other, could not be brought under these divisions, have been included under the Miscellaneous section.

As regards the age of the manuscripts, conjectural dates have been given wherever mention of the date is not found in the manuscript itself. A few works, which have alternative titles, have been shown separately under the titles which the manuscripts bear.

The publication of the Catalogue was delayed on account of some unforeseen difficulties. The Academy is thankful to Shri Lakshmana Moorthy, Shri Ramacharya Ghanapathi and Shri Vishwanatha Sharma, ex-students of the Department of Sanskrit, who helped in the preparation of the Catalogue, Shri Anandatirtha Varkhedkar, student of M.A., Sanskrit, who helped in proof reading, and Shri Munindra, the Printer, who was very cooperative.

General remarks —

This is a rare and important manuscript. Except for the first two lines, the Tanjore manuscript begins in the same manner. After the end of Daśarātraprayoga, the prayogas, Pauṇḍarika, Mahāvratā and Sarvatomukha are dealt with. The margin contains the word 'Viṣṇugūḍha.' If the word 'Devasvāmiprasāda' in the colophon is interpreted as 'the disciple of Devasvāmin', the author, Viṣṇubhaṭṭa, becomes anterior to Gārgya Nārāyaṇa and, therefore, he might have lived in the middle of the 13th century.

General remarks —

This is a complete text of Baudhāyanaśrautasūtra. This sūtra was edited by Dr. Caland and published at Calcutta. There are differences in the number of praśnas and their arrangements. Dr. P. V. Kane remarks, 'A complete set of Baudhāyanasūtras has not been recovered and has not been carefully preserved as the sūtras of Āpastamba and Hiranyakeśin.' It is very gratifying to note that this is a complete Śrautasūtra beginning from Darśapūrṇamāsa and ending with Vājapeya. Dr. Caland's edition contains only eight praśnas and ends with Agniṣṭoma. This manuscript is of great value, because it contains a larger portion of the work than what is already published.

General remarks —

On the title page also, the name of the author is given as 'Anantadevasuta Rudradeva.' Sri P. V. Kane gives Nārāyaṇa as the name of the father of the author and Ananta as that of his guru. Ananta is the author of 'Pratūpanarasimha' which was composed in 1710-11 A. D. The date of the manuscript i. e. 1766 A. D. suggests that the scribe might have made the copy during the life time of the author.

The last cover page contains two verses in which the dimensions of the sacrificial altar are given.

The owner of the manuscript was Nilakaṇṭha Yajvā of Maṇeriker family.

General remarks —

Copies of this manuscript are rare. The commentary is also called Bhāvaprakāśikā and Haripaṇḍitīyavyākhyāsaṅgraha. The author wrote a smaller commentary on Rāmāyaṇa which he called Laghuālmikīyabhāvaprakāśikā. It is not known whether the commentator wrote the commentary on the whole Rāmāyaṇa. The Mysore manuscript contains the commentary only on the first two kāṇḍas. The scribe of the manuscript was Jagannāthārya, disciple of Kokanāthārya.

General remarks —

The matter in the manuscript breaks off in the middle of the 21st adhyāya of the 3rd skandha.

Sudarśanasūri is otherwise known as Parāśarabhaṭṭa, the son of Rāmānujācārya's nephew. He was an elder contemporary of Vedāntadeśika. He is the author of two commentaries on Rāmānujācārya's Śrībhāṣya called Śrutaprakāśikā and Śrutapradīpikā.

This is the manuscript of a rare work, the copies of which are not many.

General remarks —

The manuscript is in a fairly good condition but the text is incomplete. It contains the commentary on 52 verses only. The author in the opening verse calls it vivṛti but the title page contains the word, Laghuvyākhyā. The commentary is short and does not indulge in lengthy discussions. It is a good and important commentary on Sāṅkhyakārikā.
